Enclosed for each Field Office is a copy of the Complaint filed on 1/31/77, in captioned civil suit. The Complaint contains numerous allegations that the FBI and other defendants have unlawfully collected and disseminated erroneous and derogatory information regarding the plaintiff and its founder, L. Ron Hubbard. Specifically, the Complaint alleges the FBI utilized informants, pretext telephone calls, pretext visits to Scientology locations, warrantless electronic surveillances, mail covers, mail openings and other unlawful techniques to collect information about the plaintiff organization. In addition, it is alleged that the FBI thereafter unlawfully disseminated the information collected to individuals and agencies not entitled to receive it.

Review of Bureau files regarding the plaintiff organization and L. Ron Hubbard has not located any instances in which the techniques alleged were utilized. However, prior to the filing of answers to this Complaint, it is necessary that each Field Office review the Complaint and determine whether any of the techniques alleged have been used or dissemination made.

Re: Founding Church of Scientology of Washington, Inc., v.
Clarence Kelly (Kelley)

Accordingly, each Field Office is requested to review all files concerning plaintiff Founding Church of Scientology or L. Ron Hubbard and determine whether any of the techniques described in the Complaint have been utilized during investigations of the plaintiff or L. Ron Hubbard. This should include a review of the Field Office electronic surveillance indices. In addition, each Field Office should determine whether information obtained from any source regarding plaintiff or Hubbard has ever been disseminated to any individual or organization. Each Field Office should also review any disclosures which have been made regarding the Founding Church of Scientology or Hubbard under the Freedom of Information Act.

Results should be submitted by LHM to FBI Headquarters, Attention: Legal Counsel Division, by close of business 6/3/77. Those results pertaining solely to disclosures under the Freedom of Information Act should be summarized on the cover airtel. Those offices having no references to plaintiff should advise the Bureau by airtel.

Questions regarding this matter should be directed to SA [redacted] Legal Counsel Division, Extension 3601. b6 - 1 b7C - 1

NOTE: Captioned suit was filed 1/31/77, and seeks compensatory and punitive damages, as well as declaratory and injunctive relief. The Complaint recites a litany of alleged abuses including informant infiltration, warrantless electronic surveillances, pretext telephone calls, pretext visits to Scientology locations, mail covers, and mail openings, as well as dissemination of information to individuals and agencies not entitled to receive such information. Review of FBIHQ files by Legal Counsel Division has failed to locate any instance of such abuses. Before filing answers to the Complaint, it is necessary to review all Field Office references to the Founding Church of Scientology to insure that such techinques were not utilized and such disseminations were not made. This airtel transmits a copy of the Complaint to all Field Offices and requests that each Field Office conduct the necessary file reviews.

On June 6, 1977, a review was conducted of all file reference material relating to the plaintiff in the above-captioned action and its founder, L. Ron Hubbard. This review failed to disclose any information indicating that the techniques attributed to the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) by the plaintiff in its complaint, which included the utilization of informants, pretext telephone calls, pretext visits to Scientology locations, warrantless electronic surveillances, mail covers, and mail openings, were ever employed by personnel of the Newark Office of the FBI in connection with any investigation of the plaintiff or Mr. Hubbard.

The above review disclosed that information concerning the plaintiff and Mr. Hubbard, was disseminated to other agencies on three separate dates by the Newark Office of the FBI: March 12, 1956; February 10, 1959 and February 19, 1959

Information was orally furnished to [redacted] of "CSC," presumably the U. S. Civil Service Commission, upon request, on March 12, 1956. On January 30, 1959, a name check request was made to the Newark Office of the FBI by the 2nd OSI District (I.G.) United States Air Force (USAF) concerning Mr. Hubbard, the Hubbard Dianetics Auditors School, the Hubbard Foundation School, Hubbard School of Scientology.

By letter dated February 10, 1959, the 2nd OSI District, USAF, was advised of information furnished in 1950 by an officer of the Hubbard Dianetics Research Foundation of Elizabeth, New Jersey, concerning the background and purpose of the Foundation. The letter apprised the reader that a past issue of "Look" magazine contained an article on "Dianetics" and that a past edition of a Wichita, Kansas, newspaper contained an article concerning the Hubbard Foundation.

The letter also advised the reader of the identities of the trustees and officers of the Foundation as contained in incorporation papers in Washington, D. C.

The letter also advised that the Hubbard Association, Hubbard Associates, or Hubbard Association of Scientologists changed its address from Camden, New Jersey, to Phoenix, Arizona, in 1954, and advised of other locations for the Foundation.

On February 16, 1959, a similar name check request was made to the Newark Office of the FBI by the 108th Counter-intelligence Corps Group. A letter, dated February 19, 1959, containing a response identical to the February 10, 1959, response to the 2nd OSI District, was directed to the requester by the Newark Office.

The above were the only indications of disseminations located in the review of Newark files concerning the plaintiff and Mr. Hubbard.

Scientology Student Death Probe

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED

By SHARON SPIGELMYER
SUN Staff Writer

Police and private investigators are probing the mysterious death of the Church of Scientology founder's son, found unidentified three weeks ago near McCarran International Airport in a coma, Coroner Dick Mayne said Monday.

Cause of death is still unknown for Geoffery Quentin McCally Hubbard, 22, of Clearwater, Fla. He was a student and counselor in scientology.

The homicide division of the Metropolitan Police Department Monday combed the scene where Hubbard was found, and discovered identification, license plate, car registration and title. The items had been buriend under a rock.

Sgt. Fred Anderson said, "The information I have leads me to believe it was not a murder," he said. A final conclusion as to cause of death is pending the coroner's report, he said.

Currently, police are seeking information as to who saw Hubbard last and where he had planned to stay in Las Vegas.

Mayne said at a press conference Hubbard was found in his car south of the airport near Sunset Road by a jogger about three weeks ago. He was treated as a "John Doe," person unidentified, for two weeks at Southern Nevada Memorial Hospital before he died Nov. 12.

Hubbard is the son of L. Ron Hubbard, who founded the Church of Scientology 26 years ago.

Art Maren, publicity agent for the church, who was in Las Vegas following the death of Hubbard, said the church has been considered "very controversial" in recent years because of investigations into the International Police Organization (Interpol), the Central Intelligence Agency and massive use of the Freedom of Information Act.

Asked if the family had enemies, Maren said it was a possibility although he could not cite names. He said the family has hired a private detective to look into the mysterious death.

~~Mayne~~ said Hubbard was found by a jogger Oct. 28. He was taken to the ~~hospital~~, where he underwent "intensive" care.

No drugs were found in his body when admitted, and examination by neurologists and other specialists turned up no cause for the coma, Chief Health Officer Dr. Otto Ravenholt said.

Once in the hospital, he never spoke a word or improved.

Following his death, he was identified through a police check of the car's serial number. Members of the Church of Scientology aided in the identification.

Maren said Hubbard was in Las Vegas for a vacation, specifically to enroll in a flight training school. He was on a three-week vacation, and as a result no one had reported him missing.

His parents, out of the country, were notified Saturday. A representative of the wealthy family was expected in Las Vegas Monday to arrange funeral services. It was expected the funeral would not be in Las Vegas.

Maren said he and the family do not believe the youth committed suicide. "He was a happy guy, more importantly he was very stable," Maren said.

Coroner Mayne said a gross autopsy and toxicological examinations failed to determine cause of death, and a microscopic examination of vital organs should be completed this week.

He said it is possible certain bizarre drugs might not have shown up in exams already conducted.

The youth at death was described by Mayne as about 5'1", 111 pounds, blond hair and blue eyes. There were no scars or marks on the body. He weighed about 120 to 125 pounds when he entered the hospital.

The church, which has about 600,000 active members, emphasizes "great personal awareness, happiness, self-respect and awareness of the world affairs," Maren said.

He said he did not know whether the family has been threatened in recent months. The church is currently attempting to get a past medical history of young Hubbard.

[redacted] advised that he and his sister [redacted] last contacted their brother on July 15, 1975, on a New Haven street. At that time, he appeared to be completely hypnotized and acted completely contrary to the way they remember their brother prior to his association with the Church of Scientology. [redacted] advised that his brother's permanent residence prior to his joining the Church of Scientology was [redacted] and that he now resides with members of the church in Rocky Hill, Connecticut. Each day the group apparently travels to their mission in New Haven, Connecticut.

[redacted] advised that he went down to visit his brother in June, 1975, at the mission. While there, his brother convinced him to take the course offered by the Church of Scientology. He stated that he only took the course at his brother's insistence and that it was part of a consideration to purchase his brother's car. After taking some of the course, he told those in charge he was no longer interested which greatly upset the individuals. Consequently, when he tried to recontact his brother, his brother would not talk to him unless he first talked to the [redacted] which he advied he has not done and has no intentions of doing.

All three complainants stated that their brother apparently willingly joined the Church of Scientology, but they are convinced that the church has brainwashed or hypnotized their brother to the point where he is acting totally irrationally.

The New Haven Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation contemplates no additional investigation based on the above facts, as they do not appear to constitute a violation of any federal statute.

Re: SCIENTOLOGY

The files of the FBI do reflect that Hubbard claims to have been born March 13, 1911 at Tilden, Nebraska. He divorced his first wife, Margaret Grubb Hubbard in 1947. He subsequently lived as man and wife with Sara Elizabeth Northrup, although there is apparently some confusion as to the actual legal status of this relationship. In 1949, Hubbard and Sara Northrup established an organization known as the "American Institute of Advanced Therapy" in New Jersey and Hubbard wrote a book entitled "Dianetics: The Modern Science of Mental Health", and established a new organization known as the Hubbard Dianetic Research Foundation, Incorporated, which organization was chartered under the laws of the State of New Jersey. The purpose of this organization was to teach the practice of Dianetics which is allegedly a new approach to the treatment of many physical and mental illnesses without the use of drugs or medicine. This treatment is called Psychotherapy by Hubbard.

Hubbard has complained to this bureau on several occasions concerning the staff of his organization and Sara Northrup. He has alleged that a number of employees of the foundation are communists or communist sympathizers and that an effort is being made to turn his mailing list and business over to the Communist Party.

Allegations have been made that the activities of the Hubbard Dianetics Research Foundation are of particular interest to sexual perverts, hypochondriacs, and are also subscribed to by a goodly number of curiosity seekers. Several individuals, including Sara Northrup, have alleged Hubbard is mentally incompetent. Under date of March 14, 1951, the Department of Law and Safety, Board of Medical Examiners, State of New Jersey, advised this bureau that it had a case against the Hubbard Dianetics Research Foundation, Incorporated, which was due for trial in Union County District Court, Elizabeth, New Jersey, March 27, 1951. The foundation was charged with conducting a school teaching a branch of medicine and surgery without possessing a license. This bureau has not been advised as to the results of this court action.

A copy of a communication dated June 12, 1954, on the letterhead of the Hubbard Association of Scientologists, International, 806 North Third Street, Phoenix, Arizona, addressed to Better Business Bureau, Phoenix, Arizona, describes this organization and a copy of this communication is being enclosed herewith for your information.

ENCLOSURE

The members of this organization allegedly study a Russian textbook on "brainwashing", and are asked to discuss all their problems with the leaders of the group. It is alleged also that an unidentified serum is administered to the members and that hypnosis is practiced during these meetings.

[redacted] is alleged to have become so engrossed in this organization that he turns over to the leaders the bulk of his salary, and misses "a good deal of time" from his work because of his attendance at these meetings. b6 - 2 b7C - 2

The informants expressed concern that this organization might be a front for Communists and that the "brainwashing and hypnosis used might be a means of obtaining classified information, although they had no specific information indicating any connection between SCIENTOLOGY and any subversive elements.

The files of this office fail to reflect any information identifiable with the individuals mentioned herein; however, these files reflect that information regarding SCIENTOLOGY was previously furnished to this office, together with a mimeographed pamphlet entitled "BRAIN-WASHING, a Synthesis of the Russian Textbook on Psychopolitics". This pamphlet defines psychopolitics as "The art and science of asserting and maintaining dominion over the thoughts and loyalties of individuals, officers, bureaus, and masses, and the effecting of the conquest of enemy nations through 'mental healing'".

Information was received on May 9, 1956, to the effect that a new religion had been formed in Dallas known as "SCIENTOLOGY". The information coming to our attention indicated that this organization had held a meeting one Sunday in 1956 at the YMCA in Dallas. An informant advised that this organization was formed by L. Ron Hubbard in Washington, D.C., and is known in Dallas as the First Church of Scientology. As of 1956, it was reported to hold its meetings on Sundays in Room #1 of the YMCA, Jackson and North Ervay Streets in Dallas. It was reported that [redacted] of this group in Dallas and announced that free courses could be received in Washington, D.C., by night. It was reported that [redacted] at a college in Denton, Texas, held local meetings in Dallas each Sunday. It was the informant's belief that all persons present at the meeting informant attended appeared to be atheists, believing in materialism. Informant stated that the group appeared to believe that all power is in a man's mind. It was informant's opinion that the whole movement might be Communistic because of b6 - 2 b7C - 2 their atheistic beliefs. Informant made available a book entitled "BRAIN-WASHING, a Synthesis of the Russian Textbook on Psychopolitics". This book in informant's belief was obtained from an anti-Communist and the literature therein was originally prepared by a man named [redacted] of Fort Worth, Texas. Informant did not believe that this mimeographed book had anything whatever to do with Communism or Communist activities in the United States but believed that the book may have played some part in Communist Party activities in Great Britain. Informant stated that she had no reason to believe that [redacted], was sympathetic with the Communist movement.

No other pertinent information appears in this office concerning this organization. It is noted that other informants who are familiar with some phases of the Communist Party activity in the Dallas area have not reported any information concerning this organization.

The foregoing information does not meet the established criteria for institution of security type investigations by this Bureau, consequently no investigation in this matter is being conducted by this office. There is no objection to any investigation by your office, or any other action which you may feel appropriate.

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of any kind. It is the property of the FBI, and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

CIVIL NO. 77-0175

OPPOSITION TO MOTION TO SHORTEN
TIME TO RESPOND TO INTERROGATORIES

On September 19, 1977, the seven named individual movants, who are not parties to the instant litigation, attempted to join the named plaintiff, the Founding Church of Scientology, in a motion seeking a preliminary injunction purporting to enjoin the defendants from interfering with their First Amendment Rights. Defendants opposed this motion on September 27, 1977, on the grounds, inter alia, that since no class had been certified these individuals lacked standing to move the court in connection with the instant litigation, and that the court lacked jurisdiction to enter the relief requested insofar as it would have constituted a prohibitory injunction upon a Grand Jury Investigation. Subsequently, on September 27, 1977, prior to a ruling by the court on either plaintiff's motion to file for class certification out of time or for a preliminary injunction, 1/ these seven individuals purported to serve interrogatories upon the defendant. They have most recently sought to move the court to exercise its discretion time to respond by 16 days, from October 27 to October 11. This motion is without legal merit or foundation in that movants are not parties to the instant litigation, and moreover have failed to specify any circumstances which would justify the imposition of a burdensome request to respond to interrogatories in less than the time allotted by Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 33(a). 2/

I. The Seven Named Individual "Movants", And Their "Motion", Are Not Properly Before The Court.

Movants are not joined in this motion by the named plaintiff. As pointed out in the defendants' opposition to plaintiff's motion for a preliminary injunction, until a class of which they are members is certified by the court, movants remain strangers to this litigation. Indeed, even if such a class had been certified these individuals could not appear separately before the court, but would have to either rely upon the named plaintiff to represent their interests, or petition to intervene pursuant to Rule 24, Federal Rules Civil Procedure. Movants have chosen neither to utilize this readily available mechanism to protect whatever interests they may have in the instant litigation, nor to file a separate suit, and should not now be allowed to effect an informal intervention merely by means of filing a motion.

II. Movants Have Failed To Specify Any Circumstances That Would Justify The Imposition Of A Shortened Time To Respond To Interrogatories.

The principal grounds asserted for the instant motion is that the "gravity" of the allegations made in the complaint demand a "prompt and expedited" resolution of the instant litigation. Defendants submit that, although "prompt and expedited" action is indeed as appropriate here, as it is for all litigation before the court, Rule 33, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, does not make the time allotted for response to interrogatories dependent upon the "gravity" of the claim asserted.

2/ Defendants' instant opposition, prepared under the severe time constraints "movants" seek to impose, is without waiver of defendants' rights to object to any or all of "movants" "interrogatories" and "requests for production" in the time and manner provided by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

Scientology-681

The only "exigent" circumstance specified is the scheduled appearance of movant Peter Glickman before the District of Columbia Grand Jury on October 12, 1977, one day after the time movants would have defendants' responses fall due. This recitation takes on added significance in light of the fact that Part I of the interrogatories at issue is directed toward defendants' activities concerning the seven named movants, all of whom are the subject of an ongoing investigation by that Grand Jury. Thus it is apparent that movants' real concern is to secure the advantage of receiving information concerning actions allegedly undertaken by defendants in connection with the Grand Jury investigation prior to their scheduled testimony before that body. Quite obviously such a consideration, which is improper in civil discovery in the first place, cannot be used to impose a burdensome request that the defendant respond before the time allotted by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

III. A Request That Defendants Respond Within 14 Days Would Be Unduly Burdensome.

The interrogatories purportedly served by movants demand among other things that each of the defendants provide a detailed account, broken down as to each participating Federal officer and employee, of all investigative activities directed at movants, any Church of Scientology, or any member or employee of such a church. Quite obviously these interrogatories, notwithstanding the fact that they are only five pages in length, call for an extensive and difficult review of defendants ongoing operations.

DEFENDANTS' REPLY TO PLAINTIFF'S MEMORANDUM IN OPPOSITION TO DEFENDANTS' MOTION TO DISMISS

On January 31, 1977, plaintiff filed suit against numerous federal agencies seeking monetary damages, injunctive and declaratory relief. On June 27, 1977, the defendants moved to dismiss the Complaint. On September 1, 1977, plaintiff filed its opposition and on September 2, 1977, filed an Amended Complaint. On September 15, 1977, the defendants renewed their Motion to Dismiss and plaintiff on September 21, 1977, opposed that Motion. The instant pleading is submitted in reply to plaintiff's Opposition. */

LEGAL COUNSEL

At the outset, it is interesting to note that in response to defendant's Motion to Dismiss, plaintiff abandoned certain of its claims "out of an abundance of caution" (Pl. Opp. at 1) and amended its Complaint. Moreover, there are additional arguments made by defendants to which plaintiff was apparently unable to respond. For example, plaintiff alleges that the instant defendants are liable for actions taken wholly by foreign governments (Complaint, Plaintiffs 24-28). However, as noted in the Motion to Dismiss at 14, the courts of the United States are powerless to require foreign agents to abide by our Constitution. To this, plaintiff had no response. Apparently plaintiff has conceded that it has no cause of action.

ARGUMENT

I. A Cause of Action Cannot be Predicated Upon A Request For Vague And, Ultimately, Meaningless Injunctive Or Declaratory Relief

The central argument - and flaw - of plaintiff's opposition to defendants' motion to dismiss is its claim that defendants treat the complaint in a piecemeal fashion rather than responding to what plaintiff views as its ultimate request for relief: that "the Court put an end to [alleged] egregious violations of the First Amendment by means of a broadly framed injunction." (Pl. Opp. at 4.) What plaintiff fails to realize is that even if its evidence is a "big picture," its cause of action is, at best, a mosaic. A "broadly-framed" decree ordering numerous federal officials not to "harass" Scientologists, or not to infringe, egregiously or otherwise, upon the constitutional rights of Scientologists, would not -- indeed, could not -- be the precise instrument that an order enforceable by contempt must be. On any reasonable view of the law, some dealings between Scientologists and various agencies of the federal government are both proper and inevitable. Broadly worded pieties in an injunction or declaratory judgment cannot answer an official's question whether, in the particular case facing him, investigation of particular Scientology activities -- to use one example -- would be harassment, or whether, on the contrary, a refusal to investigate would be in dereliction of his statutory or constitutional duties as an officer of the United States. Moreover, broad injunctive relief, uncharted in the complaint and unanchored in facts, could too easily run aground on substantive shoals. For example -- and defendants raise this at peril of being accused of raising yet another narrow technical defense -- one of the main sources of friction between Scientology and the government has been the efforts of the Internal Revenue Service to determine whether various churches of Scientology are entitled to tax-free status. E.g., United States v. Church of Scientology in California, 520 F. 2d 818 (9th Cir. 1975); Founding Church of Scientology v. United States, 188 Ct. Cl. 490, 412 F. 2d 1197 (1969), cert. denied 297 U.S. 1009 (1970). Clearly, however, a broad injunction against such IRS activities would be barred by the Anti-Injunction Act. 26 U.S.C. § 7421. */ Plaintiff's recent attempts to enjoin a grand jury proceeding serve as another example of the substantive overreaching a "broad" injunction would entail.

In short, injunctive or declaratory relief can be molded only in response to specific instances of conduct and not to generalized allegations of government-wide harassment. It may be that defendants did not address all the causes of action plaintiff might have asserted given its institutional perception of reality. But defendants did address and, as will again be shown below, rebut, each of the causes of action plaintiff did in fact attempt to assert.

II. 28 U.S.C. § 2675(a) Is A Substantive Limitation Upon The Court's Jurisdiction And May Not Be Waived.

In its Memorandum in opposition to defendants' Motion to Dismiss, plaintiff argues that in the assertedly "unique */ Declaratory relief is similarly barred. 28 U.S.C. § 2201.

Scientology-688

circumstances" of the instant case it should not be required to seek redress from the appropriate agency prior to bringing suit under the Federal Tort Claims Act (hereinafter FTCA) as mandated in 28 U.S.C. § 2675(a). (Pl. Opp. at 6.)

Compliance with Section 2675(a), however, is a pre-requisite to the court's assumption of jurisdiction and cannot be waived by the court, or even by the United States. Executive Jet Aviation, Inc. v. United States, 507 F. 2d 508 (6th Cir. 1974); Best Bearings Co. v. United States, 463 F. 2d 1177 (7th Cir. 1972); Bialowas v. United States, 443 F. 2d 1047 (3rd Cir. 1971). Also, Section 2675(a) is a limitation upon the consent of the United States to suit under the FTCA. Marvel v. United States, 548 F. 2d 295 (10th Cir. 1977); Pennsylvania v. United Ass'n of Flood Insurers, 520 F. 2d 11, 20 (3rd Cir. 1975). Thus, notwith-standing that the FTCA is a remedial statute, it is not to be extended either by analogy or by equitable considerations. Marvel v. United States, supra; Pennsylvania v. United Ass'n of Flood Insurers, supra. See also, United Missouri Banks South v. United States, 423 F. Supp. 571, 577 (W.D. Mo. 1976): Binn v. United States, 389 F. Supp. 988, 991 (E.D. Wis. 1975).

Plaintiff's argument that compliance with Section 2675(a) would be "futile" confuses a statutory restriction upon the court's jurisdiction with those judicially developed doctrines, such as "exhaustion of remedies" or "primary jurisdiction", that constitute self-imposed prudential restraints upon the court's power to adjudicate controversies subject to resolution by existing administrative machinery. Section 2675(a), however, is not a judicially imposed requirement based upon considerations of administrative convenience, but is a substantive limitation upon the power of the Court. Obviously, where the limitation upon the court's jurisdiction stems from an act of Congress, as opposed to the prudent exercise of the court's own discretion, it may not be ignored regardless of whatever "unique circumstances" may attend the litigation at hand. See Executive Jet Aviation, Inc. v. United States, supra.

Similarly, even assuming arguendo the truth of plaintiff's contention that compliance with § 2675(a) would "cut off potentially substantial claims of general damages," that fact would not negate the substantive limitation on the court's jurisdiction and on the consent to suit by the United States contained in that section. Plaintiff can point to no explicit basis in the FTCA for its contention that the court has authority to adjudicate such a claim. Again, that Act defines the limits of consent to suit on the part of the United States for an action in tort, Goddard v. District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency, 287 F. 2d 343, 345-47 (D.C. Cir. 1961), cert. denied, 366 U.S. 910 (1961), and must therefore be strictly construed, and not extended either by analogy or by equitable considerations. Marvel v. United States, supra, Pennsylvania v. United Ass'n of Flood Insurers, supra; Binn v. United States, supra.

Nor can plaintiff prevail in its argument that should it be required to comply with Section 2675(a), a partial stay of proceedings pending compliance is appropriate in lieu of dismissal. Such an action would constitute an assumption of jurisdiction over the claims at issue. As previously argued, equitable considerations or notions of administrative convenience do not negate congressional limitations upon the jurisdiction of the court or the consent of the United States to suit. Executive Jet Aviation, Inc. v. United States, supra; Marvel v. United States. The strictness with which courts -- quite properly -- adhere to this principal is illustrated by cases in which courts have dismissed claims brought under the

FTCA because plaintiffs failed to comply with Section 2675(a) prior to filing suit in District Court, even though by the time the claims were dismissed a final ruling by the appropriate agency had been sought and obtained. E.g., Walley v. United States, 366 F. Supp. 268 (E.D. Pa. 1973); Franklin State Bank v. United States, 423 F. Supp. 1, 3 (S.D. N.Y. 1975).

III. Plaintiff's Claims of Religious Discrimination Are Barred By Their Failure to Exhaust Administrative Remedies Under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, As Amended, 42 U.S.C. § 2000(e)-16, et seq.

Plaintiff concedes, as it must, that the remedial provisions of § 717 of the Civil Rights Act (42 U.S.C. § 2000(e)-16) pre-empt whatever judicial remedies were once available to individuals alleging discrimination by a Federal employer. Brown v. G.S.A., 425 U.S. 280 (1976). It argues, however, that the remedies of § 717 are "utterly inapposite in the present context," where plaintiff seeks a "broadly framed injunction against persecution of a religious sect [that includes] a provision forbidding discrimination in employment by Federal agencies." (Pl. Opp. at 10-11.)

It is obvious that from the standpoint of the Federal employees allegedly suffering from religious discrimination the remedies provided by § 717 are exactly what is needed. Indeed, plaintiff itself pointed out that the section was enacted to provide Federal employees who have suffered unlawful discrimination with back pay, retroactive promotion, and other remedies unavailable under the admittedly inadequate judicial remedy that plaintiff now seeks to resurrect. Clearly any claim by plaintiff to represent those of its members who suffer discrimination as Federal employees, thereby denying them the remedies provided by a statute enacted for their behalf, would be frivolous.

The remedies provided in § 717 would suffice to achieve plaintiff's stated objective of ending "discrimination in employment against its members." (Pl. Opp. at 11.) Opposition to Defendants' Motion to Dismiss, p. 11. Indeed, the interest of the plaintiff organization would be more completely vindicated under § 717, since awards of back pay and retroactive promotion of its members would doubtless inure to its benefit in the form of increased monetary contributions. Hence there is no basis for a grant of judicial relief in addition to the exclusive remedy provided by Congress. Such a grant would disturb the legislature's "careful and ordered scheme" and is therefore inconsistent with the holding of the Supreme Court in Brown v. GSA, supra.

It is apparent, then, that plaintiff's opposition to defendants' motion to dismiss its claims of religious discrimination by defendants in their capacities as Federal employers rests entirely upon the specious proposition that because the specific wrong alleged is part of a general "campaign of extinction" waged against it by the Government, the exclusive means for correction of this particular wrong so carefully designed by Congress ought to be ignored. This argument is another version of plaintiff's now familiar contention that in responding to its generalized allegations of government-wide misconduct the court is free to ignore the particularities of specific acts of misconduct alleged. It ignores the fact that § 717 was designed to deal with the problems of discrimination that may arise in a particular context, the relationship of the Federal government with its employees. By focusing upon one complex aspect of a broader problem, providing special administrative and judicial remedies not otherwise available to government and the courts, Congress has made it possible to achieve a more precise balance of considerations unique to the area of Federal employee relations. Plaintiff's argument that the court should bypass the exclusive remedy provided by

Congress in precisely that situation where its usefulness is most apparent has little to commend it from either a legal or policy perspective.

IV. The Court May Not Order The Blanket Expunction Of All Records Referring To Plaintiff.

Although Federal Courts are empowered to order expungement of government records where necessary to vindicate rights secured by the Constitution, or by statute, that power is a narrow one and is not to be invoked in a routine manner. Chastain v. Kelly, 510 F. 2d 1232, 1235 (D.C. Cir. 1975). E.g., United States v. Linn, 513 F. 2d 925, 927 (10th Cir. 1975), cert. denied, 423 U.S. 836 (1976); Rogers v. Slaughter, 469 F. 2d 1084-85 (5th Cir. 1972). An order for expunction of government records must be based upon a determination by the court that the governmental interest in the continued retention of specific records or items of information is outweighed by the resulting harm to the complainant. In seeking to balance the interest of the government in retention against that of the complainant in expunction, the court must also consider alternative means of vindicating the private interest asserted. As stated by the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit:

> It [expunction] is a versatile tool; expungement of only some records, from some Government files, may be enough, as may the placing of restrictions on how the information contained in the records may be used. It is a tool which must be applied with close attention to the peculiar facts of each case. Only in that way can it effect a proper reconciliation of the competing interests of the Government in retaining information relevant to job performance, and of the individual in having it forgotten. But it must be rationally and selectively responsive to those interests. Chastain, supra, at 1236. [Emphasis added]

Thus, the proper reconciliation of the governmental and private interests at issue in the instant prayer for expunction demands a particularized consideration of each item that would be affected by the proposed order. Where a plaintiff cannot, as a threshold matter, demonstrate that the continued retention in government records of a particular item results in a legally cognizable harm, expunction is not appropriate. Finley v. Hampton, 473 F. 2d 180 (D.C. Cir. 1972). The instant plaintiff has failed to specify the nature of the items it seeks to have expunged and the harm caused by their continued retention. Instead it has prayed the court to expunge all references to it in any records maintained by the defendants. (See Plaintiff's Amended Complaint, Prayer For Relief, paragraphs A(9), B.) Plaintiff apparently labors under the impression that its broadly worded allegations of government misconduct call for equally broad and general orders by the court, and that therefore it need not address itself to the considerations attending each item to be affected by the order for which it prays. Such a view is totally at odds with all relevant precedent.

An order of the scope sought here would not only cast aside all prudential restrictions upon the exercise of the court's power to expunge government documents, it would also constitute a clear violation of the constitutional principal of separation of powers. Its effect would be to prevent, at least for some substantial period of time, the defendant agencies from performing the critical tasks for which they were created. Even if the order were limited to references that would be defamatory if published as true, or to data collected by unconstitutional means, its validity would still be suspect as an unprecedented judicial review of the work product of an administrative agency. Monitoring that product is the responsibility of the Chief Executive and of Congress, not of the courts. As the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit has stated:

Scientology-694

> [T]he Courts cannot build upon a speculative possibility of harm to require the Executive Department to convene a "moot court" to appraise all or part of plaintiff's file. Finley, supra, at 189.

Plaintiff's request that the court undertake to convene such a "moot court" under its authority to provide a remedy for the broad general allegations made in its complaint is unsupported by any authority, and indeed borders on frivolity.

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, defendants submit that the plaintiff's Second Amended Complaint should be dismissed with prejudice.
